POSSUM

Don Spencer/Allan Caswell

Published by MCA-Gilbey

Who taught the possum how to climb?
It's puzzled me for a long, long time.
Possums wild, possums free.
But he likes to visit me.

Chorus

Possum, possum watch him go!
How he does it I don't know.
He can run right up a tree -
And defy the laws of gravity!

I see him in the back porch light.
He comes to visit me at night.
So I give him his favourite treat.
The biscuits that he loves to eat.

Chorus x 2

I can hear him now and then,
Running 'cross the roof again.
Rattling on the garbage tin.
There's no better friend than him.

Chorus x 2
